

Hello,

The City of Georgetown is kicking off a study of the Austin Avenue Bridges to evaluate both short and long term solutions to address the age of the structure and future corridor mobility needs. A focus of this project is working closely with the community to gather and incorporate input into solutions.

Public Meeting

The first of many public meetings is planned for March 31 from 4 to 7 p.m. This meeting is an open house format and attendees can come and go at their convenience. At this meeting we will share an overview of the project and get feedback on the public involvement process and characteristics of the area that are enjoyed and valued along with opportunities for improvements. Attendees will be able to visit with staff and team members, and share their input for the area and the project.

March 31 from 4 to 7 p.m.

Can't attend? No problem! All information shared at the meeting will also be posted online and team members will be available for questions and comments.

How Can You Get Involved?

We will be offering many opportunities to get involved including holding several public meetings to share information and work closely with the community. In addition, we will update the project website, send updates via email, and are always available to visit via phone, email, or in person. We are also looking for opportunities to share information at community meetings and events. If you know of a group or event that would be interested in a presentation, please let us know.
