

The City of Georgetown has initiated a study to identify a solution for the Austin Avenue bridges including trails and pedestrian connections.

Please Join Us at the First Public Meeting:

March 31, 2016

from 4 to 7 p.m.

Georgetown Public Library

402 W 8th St., Georgetown, TX 78626

This meeting is an open house format and there will be no formal presentation. Attendees are welcome to come and go at their convenience.

What to Expect

The City is working to identify the best solution for the Austin Ave. bridges. We will be evaluating 4 different alternatives over the next several months. At this first meeting we will share an overview of the project and public involvement process for the project. Input will also be collected from the community on characteristics of the area that they enjoy and opportunities for improvements along with any project concerns. Attendees will be able to visit with staff and team members, and share their input for the area and the project.

What to Bring

If you have any stories or historic photos of the bridges, we are working to collect those as a part of this process. This is a unique opportunity to celebrate and recognize the rich history of the bridges and we look forward to learning and sharing information with the community.

Can't Attend?

Don't worry! All information shared at the meeting will be posted online and there will be more public meetings in the future.
